Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Blackwood s Edinburgh Magazine, Vol. 127: January June 1880 His erudition was said to be extraordinary, and his life seemed passed in studying the literature of many languages - his agent for the purchase and forwarding of such books and papers as he needed, being a foreign merchant at the nearest seaport. He seemed possessed of considerable wealth, but his mode of life was simple in the extreme; and he employed large sums in relieving the distress by which he was surrounded, and in protecting by the necessary bribes those who were unable to protect themselves from oppression. The result was, that he was adored by the country people for miles round, while he was rather respected and feared than disliked by the Turkish officials - for he was extremely tolerant of their financial necessities, and quite understood that they were compelled to squeeze money out of the peasantry, because, as they received no pay, they would starve themselves unless they did. To this gentleman I sent my card, with a note in French, stating...
