Galileo, in 1638, formulated and published the first theory on the subject. He was followed by such philosophers as Mariotte, Leibnitz, Bemouilli, Coulomb, and others, each amending and extending the work of his predecessor, until the year 1824, when Navier succinctly stated the theory that is recognized to be correct at the present day, and to which subsequent writers and investigators have added but little. This theory has neither received the endorsement of the experimenters nor of some of the theoretical writers. Excepting as exhibiting approximately the laws of...
