Reviews

This book will not be simple to get going on reading but extremely exciting to read through. Yes, it can be play, still an interesting and amazing literature. I am very easily could possibly get a delight of reading a written book.

If in the sixties the world of pop belonged to the Beatles, so too for a good part of that decade did Al Brodax . It was a tumultuous and wondrous time for all of them, crowned with the making of their now classic motion picture, ' Yellow Submarine ' .Al Brodax was the producer and, with Erich Segal and others, a co-author of the screenplay . In this book he recalls a frenzied, madcap escapade that came to be reflected in an enduring piece of screen history . The film studio was a factory loft in London's Soho Square . In addition to The Beatles - John Lennon, Ringo Starr, Paul McCartney and George Harrison - and Al , the cast included more than a dozen animators, inkers, background artists, soundmen, cameramen, and various essential expeditors . Recruited from the U.S., Europe, Australia and all over the U.K., they produced, aside from the classic film, more than a dozen pregnancies and one or two marriages . The story of what else happened to them during those harried 11 months of creation have been culled by the author from a rich jumble of late-night, early-morning scribbles during production and from memories that continue to nourish him . His generously illustrated book is a special gift to fans of the Beatles, of ' Yellow Submarine , ' and of spirited, flavorful writing about movies .
