Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Tales, Poems and Masonic Papers During the summer of 1839, among the visitors to the pleasant village of Old Cleeve, in Somersetshire (where William de Romara founded a Cistercian monastery, in 1188, in honour of the Virgin Mary, some small portion of which yet remains, part having been turned into a private residence - where green fields, and orchards, and woodlands, supply numerous pretty pastoral pictures - and where the craggy cliffs and wild waves of the Bristol Channel, with every description of vessel bound for, or returning from, all parts of the globe, afford plentiful scope for marine views), an artist and his wife might have been observed - both, apparently, in the full flush of life - enjoying alike the pure air and the beauty of the surrounding scenery. They were a happy and a loving pair, full of high tastes and virtuous aspirations; at peace with God and all His creatures; and delighting most in each others society. Humble as they were good and gifted (and that lady's pen was known...
